

Documentation and Learning Story Templates

Submitted by Kim Deibert

These templates have been built in powerpoint. These templates are used to create documentation panels for portfolios and other classroom projects. Just by clicking on the 'placeholders' you can insert photos, type text, and drag and drop Kindergarten curriculum outcomes from the additional slides.

For the Learning Stories I ask the students to choose which photos they want to use (from their free play) and give me a title and description. You can also add your own information as well as curricular outcomes. Sometimes I just use the picture and the title and ask the children to tell their parents about the photos and the parents fill in the blanks (they will print blank if you don't type in them). You can add backgrounds, change text/font etc. just like in MS Word. I like to double click the photo and choose a different style (styles should show up at the top when you do this).
